A RACY CASE TO BE TRIED

And All Great Falls Is Agog Over the Prospects of Its Being Sensational From the Beginning -Well Known Parties.

Great Falls, June 13.-The unexpected length of the Crowe murder trial necessitated a rearrangement of the district court calendar for the June term, and, among other civil cases, Judge Benton to-day set the case of Donahue vs. Spencer for trial next Monday, June 17. This case has excited more ment, since the complaint was filed, Aug. 11, 1894, than any suit ever brought in Cascade county, and the people will eagerly watch its pro-

The plaintiff, Miss Louise Donahue, has resided in Great Falls for about four years, coming hither from Ontario. She is beautiful and cultured, wellconnected and a prominent member of the First Presbyterian church of Great the First Presbyterian church of Great Falls. She has several relatives in Great Falls and is well-known here. She has always borne a good reputa-tion in this community, and there are now on file in the office of the clerk of the district court depositions of her pastor, professor and other acquaint-ances in her former home in Canada attesting her previous good charac-ter.

The defendant John Spencer, resides with his family at Sunnyside, 12 miles west of Great Falls. He is one of the ealthiest stockmen in this county and known throughout Northern Montana. He is the husband of plaintiff's tana. He is the husband of plaintit s sister, and they have several children. Naught has ever before been said against his character, and his friends claim that the present suit is a blackmailing scheme

The complaint was published in the Standard at the time it was filed and alleges, in brief, that on Jan. 24, 1894, while plaintiff was sleeping at defendant's house, defendant's wife, plaintiff's sister, being absent, and plaintiff attending to defendant's household, defendant entered plaintiff's bed room and behaved toward her in an indecenand behaved toward her in an indecent manner, so frightening and insulting her that her peace of mind was dis-turbed and she was damaged to the extent of $25,000, for which amount she Defendant's answer denies all the allegations of the complaint.

There is an array of the best legal talent in Montana on each side of the case, and there will be a bitter contest. The evidence promises to be the most salacious ever given in a court room in this county.

Belt and Neihart Celebrate the Day Is an Appropriate Manner. Great Falls, June 13.—A special dis-patch to this office from Belt, says: The people of Belt, in conjunction with hearly the entire populace of Sand Coulee, celebrated Miners' Union day at this place to-day. At 10 o'clock the procession formed and marched to Island grove. More than 1,000 men were in line at the grove. A pavilion habeen erected, and from this eloquer addresses were delivered by Hon. J. I Reynolds and Hon. Patrick J. Shield of Great Falls, and several citizens of Pelt. During the afternoon there wer athletic sports of all kinds and th day's festivities closed with a gran

A special dispatch to this office from Neihart, says: The seventeenth anniversary of the organization of the Miners' union in Montana was celebrated in Neihart to-day, and was most enjoyable occasion. The parad was formed at Union hall and all la bor organizations and many secret s cieties participated. The speaking wa at Crawford's hall, Judge J. M. Gra and M. C. INFLUX OF UNWORTHIES. Citizens Cautioned to Have an Eye for Toughs.

Great Falls, June 13.—This city has thus far been comparatively free from criminals, but the officers expect that the first of next week there will be an influx of many of the most desperate criminals in the country, who will desire to become acquainted with the town before circus day, when every-body will be away from home. The toughest gang ever in Montana is reported to be following the circus, which will exhibit here next week, and it contains men who will besitted at it contains men who will hesitate at no crime. Every precaution will be taken by the police, but the people should exercise the greatest vigilance and take care that all doors are se-curely fastened. A gang of bums is now in the city and what their design it is now hout they are led by now in the city and what their design is is not known, but they are led by a dapper little fellow who has every appearance of being an adroit criminal, and if opportunity offers he and his associates will probably attempt to commit some serious crime. He dresses well and is to be seen with the bums only at night, after honest peo-ple are in bed.

The police are preparing to warmly receive all crooks that come, and they will be forced to undergo the crueity of servitude on the chain gang.

RICH DISTRICT.

But to Tread on the Sacred Soil Means

Certain and Speedy Arrest. Great Falls, June 13.—Miners in the city from Landusky, the gold mining camp in the Little Rockies, report that. in obedience to orders from the interior department, Major Kelly, agent on the Fort Belknap Indian reservation, caused the arrest of Charles Chamberlain and Calvin Wise, on a charge of trespass. They were taken to the agency, where they were examined and discharged, upon promising to offend no more. They had recently bonded the August mine and were producing about 10 tons of ore per week, the ore averaging $600 per ton in gold. The mine is the only one on the reservation which produces ore that can be profit-ably shipped and treated under the existing conditions in that vicinity. The agent was recently made aware that the mine was about 200 yards within the boundary of Poor Lo's temporal happy hunting grounds and at once had the miners arrested for trespassing upon the sacred soil.

The arrests have stopped all development work on the reservation, and claims will be temporarily abandoned. But the action of the agent merely serves to stimulate the people to re-newed efforts to procure the throwing open of the reservation to settlement.

HAVRE NOTES. The New Store-Preparing for the Fourth -The A. R. U.

special Dispatch to the Standard. Havre, Mont., June 13.—The Havre Cooperative association has opened up its grocery and provision stock and is already doing business. The association is working on a purely cooperative plan, and it will be watched with much interest. The stock of the company interest. The stock of the company seems to be selling readily, shares go-ing at $5. The manager of the association, J. C. Spencer, is a young man well known in these parts, and he not only understands the business but also has the confidence of the people.

The citizens of Havre are making preparations for an elaborate celebration on the Fourth of July. The com-mittees are working hard and are meeting with success. Among the attracwill be an Indian dance, horse races and other amusements.

The members of the A. R. U. are The members of the A. R. U. are holding a number of secret meetings here, but nothing can be learned of the object of them, except that the boys are discussing the liberation of Debs and are in close communication with outside unions. An officer of the union when asked the strength of the order said that while he could not divulge the number of members he could say that very few railroad men at this point were not now members of the point were not now members of the union. "We are organizing secretly, and it is impossible for the company learn who our members are.

Great Falls, June 13.—Hugh S. Moreland deeds to Emma May Moreland, for a consideration of $605, lot 2, block 480, townsite of Great Falls.

The suit of Sweenie vs. the Montana Central Railway company, to recover $25,000 damages for injuries received while plaintiff was braking at Neihart, has been set for trial June 18, in the listrict court. Louis Fredericks, alias Elexander, aliar Alexander, alias Bejeuet, alias Bezailla, and perhaps other aliases, was arraigned in the police court yesterday and pleaded not guilty to the charge of forging the name of Amos Desilets to a check which Nate Wert-helm cashed. The prisoner said he had cashed the check for another man, had since disappeared. He was held for future examination. Eighty-three sacks of wool, the prop-erty of the Homer Sheep company, arrived in Great Falls to-day from the company's ranch near Freezeout. Mollie Ray yesterday brought suit for divorce against A. Ray. She alleges that they were married at St. Paul in 1888, and that defendant deserted her Judgment by default for $130 has been entered in the suit of Frank Glab

HIDEOUS MAN-EATER

Along the Classic Banks of the Teton the Monster Frolics.

TERROR OF WOMEN AND HENS

Has the Agility of a Monkey, the Grace of a Panther and Is Invulnerable to Bullets of the Largest Caliber.

Great Falls. June 13.-From time to ime vague rumors have reached Great Falls of the depredations of a horrible monster which is reported to be roaming at large in Choteau county. Such fear has seized the people along the Teton river that they have made every preparation for defense against the onster, be it man or beast. Women and children are reported to have been frightened by the strange creature to such an extent that they have become seriously ill. Antelope and coyote hunters claim to have seen it skulking along the brush along the Teton, and ranchers claim that at night, hearing disturbances in the sheep pens, they have hastened forth, but just in time to see the brute escaping with a choice mutton wether clutched in its strange talons.

Many scoff at the stories circulated and profess to believe that the animal is a wolf of great size and unusual courage, but others, more credulous, claim that the animal has avoided bait which would tempt any wolf and say that it is invulnerable to bullets from any ordinary rifle.

One rancher claims that recently, while his wife was returning from the hen house, about 100 yards from the house, about noon, she heard a commotion among the poultry, and returning to the hen house to investigate, as she opened the door a monstrous beast leaped over her head, its hot breath being plainly felt upon her face, and with a sound like a human moan, it disappeared around a building before she had proved from her fright. had recovered from her fright. A lady who was riding along a trail recently saw a queer beast loping along ahead saw a queer beast toping along ahead of her and gave chase to it. She had nearly overtaken it, when it turned and with a cry, more of agony than of terror, rushed past her, frightening her horse so that he threw his rider.

The Fort Benton River Press says of the beast: "Morgan Williams who of the beast: "Morgan Williams, who came in from the Teton to-day, reports there was great excitement in his neighborhood yesterday. A sheep shearer came in on horseback at a breakneck speed, dashing through wire fences and other obstacles, and ex-plained his hurry by declaring that he had been chased over the prairie by a hideous man-eating monster. From the description given of the animal it appeared to be a cross between a mount-ain lion and a buffalo, its size compar-ing with that of a 2-year-old heifer." Others declare that the anima! is others declare that the animal is nearer the size of a Norman stallion, with the agility of a monkey and the grace of a panther. It is said to have the voice of a human being, but no one has been able to get an accurate description of it. Many believe the stories circulated. but representatives of rival houses claim that the tales are fabrications devised by the representative of a wholesale liquor house to advertise the unparalleled effects of free use of the liquor he sells. The rival agents de-clare that they, too, can lie, and promise a warmer war of words than waged in Fort Benton 15 years ago tween the respective agents for O'Don-nell's and O'Connell's "O. K." whiskey.

ABOUT THE VERDICT. Opinions Expressed on the Outcome of Great Falls, June 13 .- The verdict in the Crowe trial has been a general topic of conversation in Great Falls to-day, and is generally regarded with disfavor. Everyone concedes that the jury acted with sincerity and honesty, but to even the laymen, it is contended, it appears that Crowe must have been guilty of murder in the first degree or innocent, and it is the generally expressed opinion that the jury should have sentenced him to die or acquit him.

It is conceded that he either deliberately bought a revolver with the intention of killing Morgan at sight, or else shot Morgan in self defense. However, the jurors state that it would have been impossible to agree upon a verdict of either acquittal or murder in the first degree. The jurors believed that Crowe had been already taught a lesson and did not consider him dangerous criminal. They considered the expense of another trial if they failed to agree and returned a compromise verdict, punishing the defendant in proportion to his deserts.

THE WEEK IN DEER LODGE. Interesting Days for Commencement at the College of Montana.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

Deer Lodge, June 13.-The com nencement exercises of the College Montana began on last Sunday after-noon with the baccalaureate sermon delivered in Cottonwood hall by the Rev. A. K. Baird, the synodical missionary of the Presbyterian church for Montana. Mr. Baird is one of the most eloquent men in Montana, strong and forcible. His sermon was especially for the benefit of the graduates, urging them to conform their lives as on Monday evening the Hon. J. H. Strevelle of Miles City delivered his lecture on "Egypt and the Orient" before the literary societies of the college. Judge Strevelle, at the beginning of the treasure of th ning of the present year, in complian with a desire of many years, paid visit to Spain, Egypt and Palestin His description of a stormy ocean voy age, of the Alhambra and of Gibralte was exceedingly interesting. His pic ure of Palestine, though inter was upon such a common subje it was not appreciated as was the first part of the lecture. However, he had the closest attention throughout.

The contest on Tuesday was excel lent in every respect, and called out a splendid audience. The performances by the Guitar and Mandolin club, com-posed of Professor Major and Messrs Clague, Mulcahy, Napton and Larabie were highly appreciated. The vocal music by Misses Baker. Rife, Swann and La Chapelle, called forth hearty applause, as did also the instrumental music by Misses Swann, Coleman, Hycle, Owings, Kohrs and McLain.

On Wednesday the graduating exer-cises took place. Four young men on that day graduated from the institution and commenced the real contest in life. Their names are Charles Ad-ams, Aubrey E. Robinson and Morrill D. Stackpole of Deer Lodge and S. Barker, Jr., of Butte. Each of them took for his thesis a subject connected with the development of Montana, and each subject was closely allied with each subject was closely allied with the other. Mr. Adams treated of land surveying, Mr. Robinson of free gold milling, Mr. Stackpole of the copper de-posits of Butte and Mr. Barker of mining surveys, Each one looked and spoke as if he understood his subject, and his intelligent face said as plainly as words that he was ready for the practical duties of life. At the conclusion of exercises by the class, the Hon. W. A. Clark of Butte, president of the board of trustees, delivered an excellent address, abounding in wholesome suggestions to the young men as they start upon life's career after which he conferred the degrees While the number of students in at tendance the present year has not as large as usual, owing to the hard times, yet it has been a successful year in good work. The next year will begin with the brightest auspices, the money to meet the expenses of the coming year has been secured, and is is understood on the outside that the trustees now have the best hopes of the entire future of the college. Some few changes in the faculty will take place, but a good corps of teachers will be on hand next September, and good work accomplished. Last evening a reception was held at the college pariors, which was largely attended by the citizens from the town and from a distance.
